

This Stamford Green Map was created by the Land Use Bureau and Sustainable Stamford, a city-sponsored sustainability task force. It is a collection of Stamford's assets and is meant to be a tool for natives and tourists to discover sites that encourage community gathering, highlight artistic expression, generate income for the local economy and preserve our natural environment. It is the hope of this map's creators that it will inform us about patterns in green development and build awareness about potential future developments so we can support them.
